Efficient herblore guide osrs

If planning to train Herblore by making tar, it would be wise to buy or stockpile Swamp tar in advance. It also requires the player to click on each and every ingredient, as unlike brewing potions and cleaning herbs, subsequent teas are not automatically made after making just one of them. A profitable, although slow method to train Herblore is to clean grimy herbs. The most efficient way to gain Herblore experience is to buy basic and secondary ingredients from the Grand Exchange and combine them into potions. Players should combine the teas into 4-dose variants at Bob Barter at the Grand Exchange before selling. The following rates assume you are cleaning 3,000 herbs per hour. Level 8,851 312,182 8,972 256,279 7.5 121 22,500 363,000 30 Toadflax 2,474 222,270 2,513 334,728 8.0 39 24,000 117,000 40 Irit leaf 779 234,450 793 102,170 8.8 14 26,400 42,000 48 Avantoe 1,780 186,902 1,811 160,608 10.0 31 30,000 93,000 54 Kwuarm 1,465 194,393 1,496 93,839 11.3 31 33,900 93,000 59 Snapdragon 12,268 137,390 12,349 144,504 11.8 81 35,400 243,000 65 Cadantine 1,822 183,059 1,836 201,862 12.5 14 37,500 42,000 67 Lantadyme 1,401 186,764 1,439 164,825 13.1 38 39,300 114,000 70 Dwarf weed 919 196,920 917 166,113 13.8 -2 41,400 -6,000 75 Torstol 7,724 110,899 7,811 119,634 15.0 87 45,000 261,000 Degrime[edit | edit source] An alternative, less click-intensive method, is to use the deprime Arceus spell, requiring 70 Magic and the completion of A Kingdom Divided to be cast. You can cast approximately 600 casts per hour, while potentially making profit. This requires fewer clicks than potion making, since twice as many actions are performed before banking and the duration of each action is longer. The table assumes 2500 for standard 14 x 14 potions, 2750 for 27 x 1 (such as stamina potions), 2330 serum 207's, and 2166 super combat potions, with the finished product being sold after being decanted into a 4-dose potion (if applicable). If the player banks fairly quickly after each inventory of potions, they can expect to make around 2,500 potions per hour. Quest experience rewards[edit | edit source] Quest Experience reward Herblore req. 1 2.0 2.1 2.2 Profit assumes potions made from unfinished potions are decanted into 4 doses. Making Guthix rest[edit | edit source] A high-intensity but profitable way to train Herblore is to make Guthix rest, requiring 18 Herblore and partial completion of the One Small Favour quest. The fastest way to train Herblore is to add secondary ingredients to unfinished potions. Selling 600 4-dose teas will result in a net profit of 53,200. 1 3.0 3.1 3.2 3.3 Increased xp rate if 1-ticking Making tar[edit | edit source] An alternative, potentially cheaper method of training Herblore is making tar. Brewing the tea is done in four steps, granting 14, 14.5, 15, and 15.5 experience for each step, for a total of 59 experience for each tea completed. By using the auto-clean method, you can expect to clean up to 3,000 herbs per hour. Adding too many herbs will ruin the tea, granting no experience for the failed step and resulting in a worthless ruined herb tea. "Cost/XP" means how much money is needed for the supplies alone (when not selling the finished product) per experience. This equals out to 1.13 profit per experience for a completed tea. Herblore training usually involves making potions which can only begin after completing the Druidic Ritual quest granting the player level 3 Herblore. To make a potion, the player will have to gather the required ingredients, usually a herb of some sort along with a secondary ingredient, and use them on a vial of water, blood, or coconut milk. Herb cleaning[edit | edit source] Manually cleaning herbs; while more click-intensive, it can be much quicker Cleaning grimy herbs is a slow but easy and profitable method to training Herblore. The table below assumes potions are made in one step, using ingredients on an unfinished potion or precursor potion. An amulet of chemistry can be used when training Herblore with potions worth more than the cost of 1 amulet per 5 doses, if the player is willing to put the effort of equipping a new amulet when the last one breaks. Here are some quests that grant Herblore experience which require little or no Herblore stats: Making potions[edit | edit source] For more in depth calculations and variations about the cost per experience, see Calculator:Herblore/Potions. Serum 207s, stamina potions, extended antifires, anti-venoms and extended super antifire potions can all be manually sped up to 1 tick per potion at the cost of high intensity, allowing players to average 4583 potions made per hour. The fastest Herblore experience is gained by simply making potions that offer the highest experience per hour; however, some slower options can be notably cheaper and should be considered if the player prefers to save money. 1 Cost assumes potions made from unfinished potions are decanted into 4 doses. These two factors combined make this a very intensive method of training. Manually clicking on the herbs can easily double the speed of cleaning, and a fast player can expect over 10,000 cleaned herbs per hour, increasing the XP and profit per hour accordingly. Herb Herblore GE Price Profit GP/XP XP/HR[1] Level Exp Grimy Clean Guam leaf 3 1.2 25 30 -10.78 -8.98 19,440 Marrentill 5 1.9 21 37 0.22 0.12 30,780 Tarramin 11 2.2 5 116 131 -0.78 -0.31 40,500 Harralander 20 3.1 729 758 13.22 4.27 50,220 Ranarr weed 25 3.7 8,851 8,972 105.22 28.44 59,940 Toadflax 30 4 2,474 -17.78 -2.58 111,780 Torstol 75 7.5 7,724 7,811 71.22 9.5 121,500 1 Assume 600 casts/hour on 27 grimy herbs with earth staff, yielding 49,800 Magic experience per hour. Tip: Consider cleaning herbs on a touchscreen device as it may be faster or more comfortable for longer durations. Players should note that the amulet of chemistry has no effect when brewing Guthix rest. The player must add 2 guam, 1 marrentill, and 1 harralander, in any order, to a cup of hot water. Since an update on 10 September 2020, cleaning grimy herbs automatically cleans all herbs in the inventory. Costs and profits also assume that the result is decanted, if possible, into 4 doses before being sold. This results in 47,200 Herblore experience gained. Viable training options considering cost and ingredient supply are listed below. For example, using this amulet when making Saradomin Brews slows experience rates from 450,000 experience/hour to approximately 410,000 experience/hour. This can be very expensive and requires a lot of capital to buy the supplies needed. This decreases experience rates slightly, but can potentially save a lot of money on the way to 99. Depending on bank efficiency, actual rates may be less. With moderate to high concentration it is possible to make around 800 cups of 3-dose Guthix rest per hour, costing 970,400. The buy limit of swamp tar is only 13,000 which is only enough tar to last approximately half an hour before running out. Brewing Guthix rest differs from other methods of training the skill, as care must be taken to not misclick and add too many herbs to the partially-complete tea; doing so grants no experience and ruins the tea. XP per hour is calculated at approximately 78 inventories fully processed per hour. Some options may also require a lot more capital than others, and might be inconvenient to do for players with less capital available.
